Key Punctuation Skills for Third Graders

The focus is on understanding function and correct placement within sentences. Mastery of these skills lays the groundwork for more advanced grammar topics in later grades.

Periods, Question Marks, and Exclamation Points

Students learn to identify and correctly use end punctuation marks. Worksheets often include exercises where children decide which punctuation mark completes a sentence based on its intent, such as declarative, interrogative, or exclamatory sentences.

Commas in Lists and Sentences

Teaching the use of commas to separate items in a series is a critical component. Worksheets provide practice in adding commas to lists, between adjectives, and after introductory phrases to ensure sentence clarity.

Apostrophes and Quotation Marks

At the third-grade level, worksheets may introduce basic apostrophe use for contractions and possession. Similarly, quotation marks are introduced in the context of direct speech, with exercises focusing on punctuation placement around spoken words.
