Plot and Characters

The all the light we cannot see ebook narrates the intertwined stories of Marie-Laure LeBlanc, a blind French girl, and Werner Pfennig, a German orphan with a talent for engineering. Their lives converge in the walled citadel of Saint-Malo, France, during the upheaval of World War II.

Marie-Laure LeBlanc

Marie-Laure is a young girl who loses her sight early in life but possesses a strong spirit and determination. She lives with her father in Paris before fleeing to Saint-Malo to escape the Nazi occupation. She carries with her a valuable diamond known as the Sea of Flames, which becomes central to the novel's mystery and tension.

Werner Pfennig

Werner grows up in a German mining town and exhibits exceptional skills in radio technology. His talents lead him to join a brutal Nazi training school and eventually serve in the German army.

Werner's internal conflict and his experiences during the war form a crucial narrative thread of the story.

Supporting Characters

The novel features a range of supporting characters that enrich the plot, including Marie-Laure's father, Daniel LeBlanc, who builds intricate models to help her navigate the world, and Volkheimer, a soldier who aids Werner. Each character adds depth and complexity to the storyline.
