Before agents begin their formal training, they undergo a pre-training preparation phase. This may include:

- Reviewing company policies and procedures
- Understanding the airline's culture and values
- Familiarizing themselves with the tools and technology used

This preparatory phase sets the foundation for a successful training experience.

2. Classroom Training

The classroom training phase is a crucial component of the overall training program. During this time, new hires engage in:

The classroom setting allows agents to absorb theoretical knowledge while also learning how to apply it in practice.

3. On-the-Job Training (OJT)

world situations. Key aspects of OJT include:

1. Shadowing experienced agents to observe customer interactions
2. Gradually taking on more responsibilities as they gain confidence
3. Receiving feedback and evaluations from supervisors

This phase ensures that agents are well-prepared to handle the challenges they will face in their roles.
