2. Italy: Mussolini sought to recreate a Roman Empire, invading Ethiopia in 1935 and intervening in the Spanish Civil War.
3. Japan: Japan's imperial ambitions in Asia led to the invasion of Manchuria in 1931 and further expansion into China.

Global Reactions and the Road to War

As tensions escalated, the reactions of global powers played a pivotal role in the unfolding events.

Appeasement and Its Failures

The policy of appeasement, primarily associated with British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, aimed to prevent conflict by conceding to some of Hitler's demands.

- Munich Agreement (1938): The agreement allowed Germany to annex the Sudetenland in Czechoslovakia, which ultimately failed to prevent the war.
- Consequences: The policy emboldened Hitler, leading to further aggression and the eventual invasion of Poland in 1939.

The Outbreak of World War II
